WE, THE ADVENTURERS

Adventurers All Surrounded by Life

*By fields of knowledge awaiting the harvest,
By ladders to the skytop awaiting our climb,
By a rain of deterrents,
By oases of faith for the hunger of souls,
By a river of truth for the thirst of mind,
By the moss of complacency.*

We are the adventurers,

The harvesters,

The climbers,

Undaunted by torrents of rain.

The faithful,

The truthseekers, now and forever,

Never detained by the mossy terrain.

Principal's Message

One man's adventure may be another man's horror or a third man's daily routine ; therefore, the theme of the '58 Gargoyle needs explanation in what adventure may mean to a member of the graduating class. Adventure implies risk , but a well-chosen adventure brings rewards that repay the risks. If the risks are too great, the result may be fear. If the rewards are too slight , the adventure may become a routine. Beginning a different kind of life after you leave high school should be an adventure. The right choices should result in rewards . Living involves risks, of course, but the adventure of living should bring satisfactions with the risks. So long as you can keep a spirit of adventure in what you do , that in itself is a reward.

GRADE ADVISERS

We, the senior class of 1958, have been fortunate in having such wise and amiable grade advisers as Mrs. Goldman, Mrs. Rowe and Mrs. LaBarbera. They have helped us along for the past four years: listening to complaints, working long, tedious hours at clerical work, planning programs to suit each student's needs, and providing strong and sympathetic shoulders for our troubles. Now that we are graduating, we realize how important their guidance has been to us and how much our grade advisers have sacrificed to help us build our futures.

Our Expedition

We were adventurers entering Flushing High School in 1954, not knowing quite what lay ahead. Would there be parties and dates, a mass of homework, studying, and worrying? What would the first experiences be like?

The first of our years in Flushing came at a time when it was no longer the duty of the senior to guide the dazed freshman around the school. Freshmen helped seniors, seniors helped freshmen, and teachers were late for classes. "What, no desks!" we cried as we entered classrooms in the new wing. What skill it took to balance notebooks on our knees as we tried in vain to scribble down a few geography notes.

At ten thirty some of us looked at our programs and found to our amazement that the next period was lunch. "Lunch," we exclaimed, "we just ate breakfast!" Ah, but we were having the honor and privilege of being the first members of the Flushing High School Breakfast Club. Eating in the lunchroom was an entirely new experience for us. We had to pull up a piece of floor and sit down, since there were no chairs or tables. Not too much was offered in the way of food. Lunchroom officials strictly enforced the "one straw law." All day long a guard stood over the straw box to make sure that each container of milk purchased was accompanied by only one straw.

Leaving the lunchroom we wondered why everyone was going in the wrong direction. Suddenly a teacher instructed us, "This is a one-way hall, and you'll have to go the other way." To avoid congestion in the halls, traffic was being regulated by means of one-way halls, and UP and DOWN staircases.

With the absence of lockers, gym classes were administered in a make-shift manner. We dropped our books and belongings on locker foundations and proceeded to change into sneakers. We managed to escape the commotion of the locker room and then eagerly entered into the gym, where our only danger was getting hit on the head with a medicine ball.

Our freshman class was quite lucky. The year we entered Flushing, the school discontinued the split session and went on a regular nine to three schedule. What a blessing it was to come home at three o'clock and not at five o'clock. After a few months we freshmen became an integral part of the school routine. Soon the lockers were completed, the desks arrived, and the lunchroom had tables and chairs and served hot meals. The earlier confusion disappeared and we found Flushing High School a truly livable place.

As sophomores we walked through the halls with an air of assurance. No longer were we being taunted by seniors who tried to sell us elevator passes. We were becoming more familiar faces, greeted as we walked from class to class, and in our classes, the percentage of people we recognized had increased greatly. Now that we had come through our disorganized freshman days, we started to take an interest in the varied extra-curricular activities. What is our school government like? How does the G.O. function? Which political party should I join? How does one become a member of the Forum staff? I wonder if I'll be able to qualify for membership in Arista? These were just a few of the questions we asked now that we were organized and had the time to explore our school.

During our sophomore year the faculty and the students were sorry to hear of the retirement of our very able and respected Principal, Mrs. Edith M. Ward. A surprise tea was held to honor Mrs. Ward's ninth anniversary as Principal of Flushing High School. It turned into a real surprise when Mrs. Ward announced her plans of retirement. Mr. Waring then assumed leadership of the school as acting Principal. In March of our sophomore year we received our new Principal, Mr. Arthur Franzen.

One day during our fourth term a terrible shock hit us when some of our teachers started passing out little white cards. "These cards have to be filled out for the regents," the teachers said quite calmly, as we sat there trembling at the mere thought of regents. No longer would we get a vacation because it was regents week. The middle of June came soon enough, and with it some of the hottest days of the year. This, of course, was the ideal time to take a regents. There we sat, in pools of perspiration, trying to find the square root of 32145. . . .

We continued on our adventures and found ourselves in our junior year. We can remember cheering our "Red Devils" to victory after victory, and awarding a prize for the craziest socks at the football game on Crazy Socks Day. Dancing away the year, we drifted from the Winter Wonderland Dance in December, to the Evening In Paris Dance in May, and, cruised up the beautiful Hudson to the music of Ray Bloch on the "Moonlight Dance Cruise." We were entertained at the Spring Concert by the orchestra and chorus. Jeffrey Steinfeld, a senior, brought honor and prestige to our school by winning many scholarships and coming in fourth in the State Scholarship Exam. Proudly we thought that being a junior was the next best thing to being a senior. Graduation now came into our line of vision, and we no longer felt that this was just a nebulous dream of the future.

Leadership

The administration officers keep our school running smoothly.

Row 1: Mrs. Roy—Dean of Girls, Mr. Franzen—Principal, Mrs. Duckworth—Attendance.
Row 2: Mr. Kiso—Dean of Boys, Mr. Golder—Administration, Mr. Waring, Mr. Smith.

The Service League Officers direct the activities of the Service Council. This council establishes the requirements for the three service awards, determines service credits, maintains each student's service record, and assists in school functions whenever necessary.

Row 1: Beatrice Di Paolo—President, Mrs. Bickerton—Adviser, Jane Scott—Vice President.
Row 2: Roberta Panebianco—Secretary, Dorothy Yu—Tribunal Representative, Susan Horsfall—G.O. Representative.

The Student Tribunal is the judiciary of our school government. Its functions are to interpret the constitution of the school government and to preside over the trials of the delinquent students.

Members of our G. O. elect their officers directly. Candidates are nominated by their political party, either Green and White or Silver-Blue. Some of the officers' duties are to direct the G.O. Assembly and freshmen orientation, to arrange social affairs, to get student discounts, and to attend borough and city-wide conferences. This main body of the school government and Mrs. Pettigrew, our G. O. adviser, are always working to improve Flushing.

Dotti Yu—Vice President, Marie Fiore—Secretary, Meta Cornell—Treasurer, Bill Olson—President.

Into Civilization

Row 1: Miss Powers, Mrs. Gennaro, Mrs. Phalen. Row 2: Mrs. Aronsohn, Miss O'Leary—chairman, Mr. Gordon. Row 3: Miss Quinn, Mr. Kantor, Miss Carman, Miss Fitzgerald, Miss O'Dowd.

The goal of the Commercial Department is to train pupils in the practical application of secretarial skills so that they may start work in the business field immediately following graduation. In order to receive a commercial diploma, the candidate must have three units in either stenography or bookkeeping, and two terms of secretarial training. Specialized instruction is given in the use of the mimeograph, the electric typewriter, the comptometer, the ditto-machine and the Rex-o-graph.

The Industrial Arts Department of Flushing High School trains students for a vocation. There are specialized shops for drafting and work with metals, wood, and electricity. This work serves to familiarize the student with what will probably be his chosen field after graduation.

Mr. Sealy, Mr. Erdal, Mr. Hemming—chairman, Mr. Paris, Mr. Nelson.

John Hoch, Earl Jones, Louis Philippe, George Dobritz, Vincent Pollina, Walter Ilchuk, Joe Hermalholfer—watch Mr. Erdal demonstrate in the electric shop.

Native Music

Our orchestra is an important part of many school functions such as assembly programs and commencement exercises. Under the direction of Mrs. Piedra, this group of sixty-five students all display the ability to play an instrument proficiently. This past year the orchestra has played for the P.T.A. Christmas program, the Service Assembly, Pan-American Day, and Commencement. To Mrs. Piedra and sixty-five very talented students we owe one of the most enjoyable forms of entertainment at Flushing High School.

Both the Junior and Senior Chorus are under the direction of Miss Miller. The Junior Chorus is comparatively new. It was organized by Miss Miller in 1936 and now is composed of eighty-five students. These students perform for many assembly programs and make occasional appearances. Once a student is graduated from the Junior to Senior Chorus, he learns more than the fundamental of singing. Miss Miller instructs this group in sight reading and recognition of keys. The Senior Chorus performs annually for the P.T.A. and sings each June at Commencement exercises. Both the Junior and the Senior Chorus have supplied Flushing High School with many enjoyable hours of delightful musical performances.

Mr. Gross, Mrs. Wiltsey, Mr. Thom—chairman, Miss McClelland, Mr. Bergere.

Native Art

All Flushing High School students, whether or not they are the "I can't draw a straight line" type, take two terms of Required Art. Grades are based on efforts, rather than talent.

For those students who can draw a straight line, the Art Department offers courses in Basic Art and Advanced Art.

Artistic talents play a prime role in extra-curricular activities at Flushing High School. At rally time, political parties stake claims on either side of the halls. Art committees gather in basements, producing eye-catching design and jargon to solicit party slates.

The finest art work of Flushing High students is published each term in Folio, the creative literary and art publication.

"The Park," by Tom Kornmeyer, last year's winner of the St. Gaudens medal for achievement in the field of art.

FORUM

While some merely keep abreast of the Times, we keep in-Forum-ed as well, with eight pages of crisp Flushing journalism. Our newspaper is under the inspiring guidance of Mrs. Claus and the expert editorship of Joyce Levy and Roberta Katchen. The Forum covers such vital topics as school politics, college news, special events, fashions, school sports, "Humoresque," and more and sundry. Our newspaper is a tribute to the pens of Flushing High School.

FOLIO

The "Folio" is the creative literary and art publication of Flushing High School. Published once each term, the Folio contains the finest literary and art work of Flushing High School students.

Members of the Folio staff meet every seventh period. Their literary minds evaluate short stories, poems, and art work submitted by students. The publication of the Folio each term, the results of their conscientious labor, is something of which the Flushing students are proud.

"The New Yorker" and the "Atlantic" have sharp competition. Our Folio is ultra-terrific!

THE HISTORY DEPARTMENT

This is the day of the shrinking globe, a day when isolationism is an obsolete phenomenon, a day when understanding of other people must replace intolerance. We, at Flushing High School, have come a long way in attaining this understanding through the capable instruction and guidance of our History Department. Under the imaginative leadership of Mr. Eugene Kelly, two new courses were added to the curriculum: Ancient History and Problems of American Democracy. These, plus our required courses, have helped to make us more informed and alert citizens of a troubled world.

Lyle Halperin, Howard Kahn, and William Handler.

Mrs. Goldman teaches the Problems of American Democracy class.

LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

¿Cómo está vd?—Comment allez-vous?
—Wie geht es Ihnen?—Gallia est omnis divisa in partes tres.—These are just some of the expressions one hears while walking past the language classes of our school.

We are fortunate in having the opportunity to elect either Spanish, French, German or Latin as our secondary language at Flushing High School. Under the most competent leadership of Mrs. Anna Ernst, this department has made many gains, including the establishment of a fourth year Spanish class. As many of us will move on to the treasure of foreign literature that is to be had in college, we will appreciate the sound linguistic base we have obtained during the past four years.

..... No Stones Unturned

Sir Isaac Newton, acknowledged among the greatest of mathematicians and scientists, once said of himself: "I do not know what I may appear to the world, but to myself I seem to have been only a little boy playing on the sea-shore and diverting myself in now and then finding a smooth pebble or a prettier shell than ordinary whilst the great ocean of truth lay all undiscovered before me." This great ocean of truth, only slightly penetrated, remains facing us today.

The secrets of our great universe are waiting to be uncovered, and nations are competing fiercely to be first in these discoveries.

There is no doubt that the scientist is the man of the hour and that on our mathematicians and scientists depend the position of the United States of America in this all encompassing struggle.

Youth must be stimulated to think, and guided in this thought; curiosity must be awakened. Our Mathematics and Science Departments are doing their utmost to develop this interest and ability. Our high school chemistry and physics courses give the eager student the impetus to go forward into a career of thinking, evaluating, experimenting, and discovering. Our upper term mathematics courses afford the same stimuli, and their effectiveness has been manifested by the desire of the students to have the mathematics program enlarged. To meet this demand a course in college mathematics has been started.

This fine part played by the Flushing High School's math and science teachers deserves recognition. We would like humbly to express our thanks to them for helping us along a course which will leave no stones unturned.

Mr. Gray gives Connie Clark some well-appreciated advice for college.

Throughout the school year, there is a steady stream of juniors and seniors flowing in and out of the College Room.

"Where shall I apply, Mr. Gray?"

"How shall I act at the interview, Mr. Gray?"

"Do I have a chance for a scholarship, Mr. Gray?"

In the College Room, surrounded by scores of college catalogues, Mr. Gray attends to these questions of students who are in the whirl of college admission.

As the competition for college entrance stiffens more and more each year, college-bound students are grateful for Mr. Gray's well-rounded guidance.

1957 was an exciting year! Scientific research was being fostered by an I.G.Y. program. The earth and its atmosphere was being carefully studied. Dreams of space travel, of rockets to the moon, and trips to Mars were no longer just fantastic dreams. Space was actually being conquered. Russia sent up two satellites to circle the earth, and all conversation turned to them. Sputnik seemed to turn science fiction into reality. A new epoch was begun. And, while Sputnik was capturing the attention of the world, and the nation, a momentous event was revolutionizing our own private world. We were entering our senior year! When we heard the rally song, "Freshmen, Sophs, and Juniors and you mighty Seniors," we realized what they meant to us; we were those mighty Seniors; we had finally reached that long-sought position of leadership. The school was ours.

After the first few days of the term, we expected that everything would calm down. It was then, when we first tried to settle down, and become our own "normal selves," that we realized it would be an impossibility. There was still confusion and excitement. Graduation, careers, and college lay ahead.

Some of us were suddenly faced with the long put off problem of "College Entrance." Hurriedly, we sent away for dozens of bulletins and pamphlets, and then realized we could apply to only three colleges. Sleepless nights and days of indecisions followed. Finally, having made our hesitant choices, we kept our fingers crossed, as we wrote autobiographies, prepared for college interviews, made out financial statements, and spent more sleepless nights looking over vocabulary lists. We began to make frequent trips to Mr. Gray's office. Some of us then realized that we didn't know as much as was required of us for the College Board and the State Scholarship test. After climbing up to the tower for the scholarship classes, every eighth period, we again underwent deflation of the intellectual ego. Frantically we sought to learn all that we hadn't learned in three previous years and read books we should have read as freshmen. It was exciting, time consuming, discouraging, and yet still very challenging.

To upset things even further, an epidemic of Asiatic Flu set in. Football games were cancelled, and lessons fell behind schedule. Both the faculty and the students were badly hit. It took about a month for everything to return to its normal form.

But, with all the hardships, we had an eventful year. There was never a dull moment. Although we often remarked that we wouldn't want to go through it again, ten years from now, we will probably look back and sigh, saying this was a very happy time of our lives.

Looking toward the future, our vistas are unlimited. New adventures in careers, further education, and new phases of life offer opportunities as vast as the universe. Let us pray that we will have the vision to see these opportunities and the strength to take advantage of them.

FLUSHING HIGH FOOTBALL TEAM

In the last few years a rather strange trend has been followed on the part of Flushing High's football and basketball teams. In the 1956-1957 season the basketball team proved to be one of the powers of the North Queens P.S.A.L., and were able to gain the city's playoffs. The football team, on the other hand, had a hopeless record of 0-7. During the 1955-1956 season, it was the other way around. The football team won the Queens Championship and wound up with a respectable 5-2 record, while the Red Devil's basketball squad was nothing to rave about.

Now with the ushering out of the 1957-1958 season we see that this peculiar sequence has again bloomed into being. While the basketball team was absorbing its share of "lumps", Coach Ed Berg was directing the Red Devils football team to their finest season in some ten years. The final record of six wins and only one loss tells only half the story. Flushing High regained the Queens Championship which they had relinquished for a year, and accomplished this feat by defeating the other Queens' teams quite handily. First it was John Adams High School, falling before Flushing by a score of six to nothing. Little did we know that this was a sign of things to come. Before the season had ended two other teams would be shut out by the highly defensive Flushing unit, Curtis six to nothing and Far Rockaway twelve to nothing. The latter game decided the championship. But Flushing wasn't merely defense conscious; on the contrary, we showed our opponents how an offense rolls. Evander Childs was resoundingly beaten by Flushing 30-18, Monroe got theirs 21-20, and our new rival, Holy Cross was stepped on by a score of 18-2.

Co-captains—Tom Edwards, Paul Faulkner

Our one defeat came at the hands of a keyed up Dewitt Clinton team who upset Flushing by a score of 20-12. No excuse can be given for that result. On that day, Clinton would have beaten anyone.

The team as a whole worked wonderfully. But as we seniors look back over this past year we remember certain players who did their best so that Flushing could achieve that notch that it did.

We can't forget Bob Hoenig, who sensationally played his end position, and was rewarded by being named in most of the New York City papers, to their First All teams. Seniors, such as the two co-captains, Tommy Edwards and Paul Faulkner, who performed especially well, will always be remembered. Without Tom's leadership at quarterback, and Paul's key blocking and fine running, heaven knows where we would be. There were many juniors who added their talents but they have another year to be lauded. As time grows short, we must concern ourselves further with the graduates. Roger Leuci, the other end, Bob Maxim, Mike Ingenito, bruising tackles, Steve Brodie, find guard and kicker, Howie Norman, Randy Edelman, Bill Olson, Rich Tirrell; they too added to the final end—Victory. So as we seniors leave the halls of Flushing we'll remember the Flushing Red Devils Football team of 1957-1958 and how they added prestige and popularity to our school in this, our senior year.

BASKETBALL TEAM

Under the expert coaching of Bill Jensen over the past few years, Flushing High School has sported many fine basketball teams. A year ago our Red Devils, having a great season, got into the playoffs and this year we came up with another winning team.

With Andy Edelman the only returning starter from the previous year, Mr. Jensen molded a unit from the members of last years' varsity and it proved to be one of the best in the league. The squad was composed of seven seniors—all of whom, except Andy, had joined the varsity in their Junior year,—and nine juniors. Andy has been on varsity since his freshman year, and Dave Nesbitt, a junior, has been a member since his sophomore year.

The boys who played outstanding ball all season were: Andy Edelman, Bob Christman, Bob Hoenig, Dave Nesbitt, Bob Spar, and Roger Wallman. Andy, excelling mainly on the jump shots and drives, led the team in scoring. Bob Christman was close on his heels in the scoring department and together they provided an effective one-two punch. Bob Spar displayed a quick, accurate jump shot from the outside and Bob Hoenig had a soft one-handed push shot from either the side or the top. Dave Nesbitt and Roger Wallman, besides being good rebounders, proved to be good shooters too.

It was readily apparent in all the games, that all

Row 1: Don Schneider, Dick Bruce, Ed Deutsch, Roger Wallman, Jake Doyal, Bob Christman, Ken Weider, Bob Spar. Row 2: Bob Hoenig, Len Foxen, worked together as a unit. There was good passing, fine team play, and good sportsmanship for the most part.

The other members of the team who also deserve recognition are: Bill Newell, Randy Edelman, Kenny Weider, Jake Doyal, Don Schneider, Lenny Foxen, Eddie Deutsch, Booker Hopkins, Dick Bruce, and Dave Gableman. As most of them are juniors and will be returning next year, Flushing should once again come up with a winning team.

Some of the highlights of the past season were four night games and two more victories over our rival, Bayside High School. We have now defeated Bayside six times in a row. Also, a new rivalry was begun when we encountered Holy Cross for the first time.

Row 1: Mr. Mullin, Mr. Larsen, Mr. Harras, Mr. Levitz. Row 2: Mr. Berg, Mr. DeChiara, Mr. Jensen, Mr. Montalbano, Mr. Frain.

Andy Edelman makes a spectacular shot to score 2 more points for Flushing.

GIRLS GYM

"Floor spots, girls." That's gym class, all right! We girls will never forget the frantic switch from button-downs to bloomers.

A picture of sound health, in her starched green suit, flat collar, skimpy white socks, and almost white sneakers, the Flushing girl participates in sports from volleyball, and basketball, to wall-leaning, and "I am not chewing gum."

For those girls who are outstanding in athletics, the Girl's Health Education Department offers Leader's class, and extra-curricular basketball, badminton, tennis, and bowling clubs.

Ordinarily, gym classes can be fun though. There may be frightful panic in the locker room, because of an acute scarcity of mirrors and space, and the after-gym hair-do does look rather haggard. Still, who wouldn't prefer Health Ed., to History!
